Dying Man Plays Cards To Delay Inevitable End

Lives for Two Weeks on Excitement of Gam e That He May See Thirteen Children for the Last Time.

ALTON, Ill., March 7.—Joseph Hufker, of Alton, last night, after living long enough to see the face of his son, Louis, who started on Washington's Birthday from a college in Belgium, where he was studying for the Roman Catholte priesthood. Hufker had thirteen children, and there has not been a family reunion for thirteen pears.

The father was told by his physician he was dying from cancer of the stome and the coll not live more than she and could not live more than she and coll not live more than a she and coll not live more than a she and coll not live more than a walked into the room. He had kept the doctor, who shook his head.

Hufker ordered a message sent to his son to leave his studies and hasten a train the son to leave his studies and hasten a train the son to leave his studies and hasten a cross the ocean to see him, and a message came back that the father across the ocean to see him, and a message came back that the father command had been obeyed. Then Hufker solved himself to the tasks of living until the time would come for his son to reach his bedside. The doctor told him that he must keep up his spirits if he would live the time desired.
